ASSET MIX BY INVESTMENT PERSONALITY

The pie charts illustrate the suggested asset mix of an investment portfolio that matches your investment personality. These portfolios will provide you with an acceptable amount of risk according to your personality, while attempting to maximize return, based on historical and expected returns over a long period of time.

An asset class simply identifies similar types of investments, depending on how they earn a return or what they invest in. It's a good idea to invest no more than 25 per cent of your investments in any one fund. For asset classes where the recommended percentage is more than 25 per cent, consider selecting more than one fund in that asset class.

Once you've determined your investment personality and suitable asset mix, select the appropriate funds for your investment portfolio.

Conservative

The conservative asset mix is the least aggressive option, with a primary emphasis on income. It's designed for investors who have a short period of time to invest, want a regular income, or have concerns about investment volatility. A small equity component is included to bolster returns above fixed income levels over the long term.

Moderate

The moderate asset mix is suitable for investors who have a medium period of time to invest and prefer more income than growth. With the largest portion of the asset mix in fixed income investments, and a good portion in equities, the risk is lower than other more aggressive options, but still provides a solid component for growth.

Balanced

The balanced asset mix is suitable for investors who want a longer-term balance between growth and income at reduced risk. The largest portion of this asset mix is in equities.

Advanced

Advanced investors prefer to emphasize growth. The largest portion of this asset mix is in equities and a moderate amount is in fixed income investments. It's appropriate for investors who want some income in the short term, but are more interested in long-term capital appreciation.

Aggressive

Aggressive investors want the potential for maximum long-term growth. This asset mix consists solely of equity investments, which is appropriate for people with a long period of time to invest and who aren't concerned with short-term investment volatility.
